

reference scenes on different OS

When trying to resolve multiple references files that are located on different OS, it can be quite a task to resolve all those references manually. The MEL command `dirmap` can be used to do this; it just needs to run before loading the reference files